

GERMANS ADVANCING TOWARD CITY OF LIEGE

GERMAN FORCES PREPARE TO MEET BELGIANS—NO FIGHTING REPORTED TODAY.

BRITISH SHIPS SAFE

Principal Liege Forts Are Still Holding Out Says Dispatch, While Germans Are Capturing Smaller Forts.

In and around Liege the situation was unchanged today. The Germans held the town itself but the forts still were fighting strongly. The German army in the north was reported capturing itself on the Ourthe, while two large divisions of cavalry had got to Tongres north of Liege. It was expected that a general advance was in preparation and a battle imminent in which the Germans would be confronted by the allied Belgians, French and British.

The French at Muelhausen met with opposition after their occupation of that city. A superior force of Germans caused them to leave the place and take a position outside where an active conflict since the details of which have not been made public. French reports are indefinite but give impression of the French success. Many German spies were arrested in Belgium and a secret wireless station was discovered in a German camp in Brussels.

Fighting evidently has occurred on the Russo-German frontier, as six carloads of German prisoners were reported to have passed through Vilna today on their way to the Russian interior.

Russians have concentrated a considerable army in Finland, thus disarming of German reports of the landing of a German army corps there. Bulgaria is apparently mobilizing all her forces as she announced to prevent violations of her neutrality.

The United States diplomats in Europe have the further task of looking after the French interest in Austria and Austrian interest in France.

for mobilization expenses in addition to a previous credit of $30,000,000 for armaments.

Belgians Active.—The Germans made a desperate attack on Fort Sereing, south of Liege Sunday night and were repulsed with heavy loss. It is estimated that eight hundred Germans were killed within an area of half a square mile.

A bridge which the Germans were crossing was shattered by the fire of the fort which has an exact range. The Germans attempted the assault with great courage. Some of their dead were found near the barb wire fence that surrounded the fort. It is reported that Prince Lippe and his son, who were killed, were charging at the head of 100 German soldiers. Their bodies were buried near the fort.

Taken Prisoners.—An official statement issued today says that at Houffalize in Belgium Luxembourg, a French patrol attacked a squadron of German cavalry today, sabred them and took several prisoners.

With the exception of slight encounters between reconnoitering parties, quiet prevailed today in Belgium.

It was reported that the German troops appeared to be reorganizing in front of Liege preparatory to beginning a French forward movement. Their advanced guards on the banks of the River Ourthe.

King Albert Active.—The king arrived here during the night from the general headquarters of the Belgian army at Louvain to the northwest of Liege. His majesty passed several hours in conference with the Belgian minister of war, after which a cabinet council was held.

It is reported here that all the civilian hostages held by the Germans in the town of Liege have been released on giving their parole to remain at the disposal of the German military authorities.

Spies Captured.—Among the spies captured in Belgium were four German officers wearing Belgian uniforms. One spy was disguised as a woman, another as a missionary, and a third, who had a basket full of carrier pigeons, as a laborer.

One of the spies arrested by the Belgians in Ostend had in his possession plans indicating the halting points of the German army on their march to Paris. According to these the original plans showed Brussels was to be reached August 3, and Lille, France, August 5.

Germans Occupy Tongres.—London, August 11.—The Paris correspondent of the exchange telegraph company says that a dispatch from Maastricht, the Netherlands, announces that the Germans occupy Tongres, a town ten miles north of Liege. The place has been abandoned by the Belgians.

The German engineers are engaged in making a second bridge across the river.

Dispatches to the Times from The Hague and the telegraph from Maastricht sent under yesterday's date, agree that the struggle for possession of the fort at Liege was going on continuously and giving rise to terrible scenes of bloodshed.

At noon the dispatches say the Germans were making fierce efforts to silence the fort nearest the city proper and the defenders were gallantly holding out against almost constant bombardment.

Strict Martial Law.—Paris, August 11.—Martial law is being more vigorously enforced in this city. The authorities are particularly anxious to prevent the escape of important news and frequently take the precaution of tapping the telephone wires, cables on which can now be made only in French. It is explained that this insistence upon the use of a language familiar to the police has been made necessary by the fact that suspected Germans were in the habit of telephoning in English.

The restriction, however, is decided by orders of many English and American whose knowledge of French is limited. The American ambassador Myron T. Herrick was cut off today when attempting to converse with friends. The diplomat was more anxious than annoyed.

States of War.—The Hague, Aug. 11.—A royal decree published in the Official Gazette here today proclaimed a state of war in the Dutch provinces of Limburg, North Brabant, Zeeland, some parts of Gelderland, south of the River Waal.

Joins Forces.—Several Australian warships have joined the British squadron in east Asiatic waters.

Germans Retreat.—The Austrian troops who had occupied Radziviloff, hastily evacuated the place after the Russian success on Austrian territory. No other serious engagements have been reported from the Austro-Russian frontier.

Estimate Losses.—London, Aug. 11.—A news dispatch from Brussels says it is officially announced that the Germans lost in the battle of Liege 2,000 dead, 20,000 wounded and 9,700 prisoners.

Japanese Expedition.—Shanghai, Aug. 11.—The captain of a Japanese vessel reported today with 45,000 Japanese soldiers, has embarked on transports and was en route to the German possession in China.

MRS. WILSON BURIED NEAR GIRLHOOD HOME

REMAINS OF CHIEF EXECUTIVE'S WIFE LAID AT REST IN ROME, GEORGIA, CEMETERY.

HOLD BRIEF SERVICES

Presbyterian Church Where Mrs. Wilson's Father Was Pastor, Scene of Solemn Rites Today.

ROME, Ga., Aug. 11.—Simplicity marked the funeral of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson here today. In deference to the wishes of the president, the exercises were brief. There was a forty-five minute service at the First Presbyterian church, where Mrs. Wilson's father, Dr. S. A. Wilson, was pastor for seventeen years, and an even shorter ceremony at Myrtle Hill cemetery.

At the girlhood home of Mrs. Wilson, today awaited in a suburban suburb of the funeral train from Washington. Buildings in the business district and many resident sections were draped in black. Traffic was closed early on the streets through which the funeral procession was to pass from the railway station to the church, and from the church to the cemetery. Special policemen and national guardsmen patrolled the quiet streets.

Because of the limited capacity of the church only members of the family and close friends have been invited to be present.

As at the church, the services at the grave also will be conducted in the strictest privacy.

Silent Crowds Gather.—Greenville, S. C., Aug. 11.—The special train bearing the body of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the president and his wife, arrived here today. A large group of people who stood with heads bared beside the railway tracks to pay homage to the last journey of the "first lady of the land" remained up through the night to watch the funeral train pass. Silent crowds of men, women and children gazed sorrowfully at the car where President Wilson kept vigil beside his dead.

At Culpeper, Va., a colored Confederate flag with a note of sympathy from the Culpeper Chapter of the United Daughters of Confederacy was placed on board the train. At many other places flowers were presented by groups of little children.

The president was deeply touched by the respectful silence of the people who met the train all along the line.

FIGHTING SPIRIT IS LACKING IN GERMANS

Even Officers Are Suffering From Hunger, According to London Times Correspondent.

London, Aug. 11.—A dispatch to the Times from Charleroi, Belgium, describes the fighting of the Germans as altogether lacking in spirit. Even the officers are suffering from hunger, according to the correspondent, who adds that two German officers of high rank captured on the French frontier said they had had nothing to eat for three days.

LINER LUSITANIA SAFE; WILL REACH LIVERPOOL

New York, Aug. 11.—The Cunarder, Lusitania, which left here at one o'clock last Wednesday morning for a dash across the Atlantic, reached Fastnet, approximately three hundred miles from Liverpool, between eight and ten o'clock this morning. Cunard line officials announced that they had received cable advices from Liverpool to this effect. The Lusitania should reach Liverpool tonight.

AMBASSADOR'S WIFE TO BE A WAR NURSE

Mrs. Myron T. Herrick, wife of the American ambassador to Europe, has announced her decision to organize an American hospital in Paris. She will act as nurse for French soldiers wounded in battle.

RUSSIANS CUT WAY THROUGH AUSTRIAN TROOPS IN VILLAGE

Soldiers of Czar Active on Border Line—Russian Funds in German Banks Seized.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 11.—The Russian general staff announces that the Russian troops today dislodged a large body of Austrian troops from the French village, Zalotche, in Austrian Galicia to the southwest of Radiviloff in the Russian province of Volhynia. The Russians sabred a section of the fifteenth Austrian infantry, while the thirty-third Austrian lance regiment fled in disorder.

LEADS RUSSIANS IN EUROPEAN CONFLICT

Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of Russian army.

Austrian Advance.—London, Aug. 11.—A central news dispatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam says the Austrian troops have occupied Aftsch in Russian Poland, ten miles within the border, after defeating a body of Cossacks, whose losses are given at 400 killed and wounded, while those of the Austrians are said to be 140.

Funds Confiscated.—A central news dispatch from Berlin dated Monday says the Russian funds seized by the German government in Berlin banks are said to total $25,000,000.

A special commission appointed by the government in Germany reports that the country has sufficient stock of food to last for a year.

Emperor William has given $100,000 to the German Red Cross Society and a similar sum for the relief of the families of soldiers killed in the fighting.

WILL STOP GERMANS DRILLING FOR WAR

Federal Authorities in Chicago Will Stop Reserves from Preparing for War.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Federal authorities today began an investigation of reports that German reserves are drilling in the suburbs of Elmhurst, Ill., in the vicinity of the Elmhurst Evangelical college, when having arrived here from various parts of the country, expecting to be sent to Germany. It was found impossible to transport them. Kurt Von Reischwitz, the German consul at Chicago, warned the German against drilling yesterday, but according to the information received at the office of the United States district attorney today, the law provides a penalty of $3,000 fine.

HOLLAND-AMERICAN LINE OFFERS ITS PREMISES TO DUTCH RED CROSS SOCIETY

London, Aug. 11.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam says that the Holland-American line has placed its large premises on the Hook, in Holland, at the disposal of the Dutch Red Cross, with a special view to the need in the event of a naval battle in the North Sea.

TWO GIRLS CAUGHT FOR SHOPLIFTING

Attempt to Steal Piece of Silk at Bostwick Store by Young Ladies.

Two young girls, who gave their names as being Olive Anderson of Elgin, Illinois, and Ester Wislham of Whitewater, were arrested by the police yesterday afternoon for the theft of a piece of silk valued at five dollars, from the Bostwick merchandise store. No complaint was made against the girls by the store owners and they were released on the condition that they pay for the property stolen.

Early in the afternoon the two went to the Bostwick store and made several purchases. As the Anderson girl near the desk it is said she picked up a fashion book and dropped it on the counter near the Wislham girl, over the piece of silk. On leaving the counter the Wislham girl, who was notified, both young girls fled. Both were dressed in very risqué attire of brilliant colors and Piquee Fred Albright located the pair in an ice cream parlor. The two were taken to the station where they denied stealing the goods and were inclined to be haughty and insolent for being arrested.

The silk was found in the traveling bag by Chief Chapman and then the girls changed their story to one that a third girl had given them the property.

On hearing this story Chief Chapman lead the two to the cell room or "bull pen" and started to unlock the door. One look inside was enough for the young ladies who readily admitted the theft. No complaints were made against the two who decided to pay for the property.

COMMERCIAL SHIPS PRESSED INTO USE

British Cruiser Essex Sighted Off New York, This Morning—No German Boats in South.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—A dispatch from Quebec says the authorities at Antioch last night identified all captains of ships on the St. Lawrence of the presence of a strange vessel in the waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, whose purposes as yet have not been ascertained. Special preparations have been made at the citadel here.

Cancel Sailings.—Admiralty has cancelled all Trans-Atlantic sailings of the Allied line steamers Asatian, Victorian, and Corsican and will use the vessels to transport supplies and troops presumably from Canada to Europe, according to announcement made by the line today.

Essex Near Shore.—New York, August 11.—A British cruiser believed to be the Essex suddenly appeared at the entrance of New York harbor this morning. She was sighted off the highlands of Sandy Hook about 10:30 o'clock, apparently bound in but within a mile of the entrance of the harbor. She abruptly changed her course and steamed eastward.

Saw No Ships.—The Calameres of the United Fruit company (British) arrived in port today from Colon and Jamaica. Officers of the ship reported they had not seen a ship flying the German flag in southern waters.

Reaches Port.—Boston, Aug. 11.—The German steamer Coln arrived here from Bremen today, having evaded four British cruisers during the latter part of her voyage, according to her commander, Captain Jachens.

See Man of War.—San Francisco, Aug. 11.—A German man of war with three stacks and two military masts was sighted sixteen miles outside the Golden Gate at 10 a. m. today. Taken in connection with the finding of boats from a British warship last night and today, her presence has significance. The description of the German ship would agree with either the Leipzig or the Nuremberg.

GERMAN PRISONERS SENT INTO RUSSIA

Six Carloads at Vilna Reported On Their Way to the Interior.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 11.—A telegram received here today from Vilna says six carloads of German prisoners passed through that city this morning on their way to the interior of Russia. The prisoners were taken to the Vilna hospital.

SUFFRAGETTE "DENIAL DAY" SUGGESTIONS POURING IN

New York, Aug. 11.—Suggestions for the best way to observe suffrage denial day on Saturday, today poured in on local headquarters. The same kinds of suggestions today were pouring into suffrage headquarters in Chicago, Denver, and Coast cities. The idea is for every believer of suffrage for women in the United States to sacrifice some one thing next Saturday and send the money that would have been spent to suffrage headquarters in the fight for the ballot.

A fund of $50,000 is the goal toward which suffrage leaders are working. To the Eastern person who suggests the best and most successful method of observing "denial day" will be given a prize. Instead of suggestions a score or more of wealthy Eastern suffrage workers and advocates today sent checks totalling several thousands of dollars.

SON OF FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR IS KILLED

Paris, Aug. 11.—Lieutenant Baron Marshall Von Bieberstein, son of the Baron Marshall Von Bieberstein, who was former German ambassador at Constantinople, was killed in a fight near Gerzelle in the French department of Meurthe-et-Moselle on Aug. 5. Belgium territory, except just around and to the south of Liege, was reported today to have been thoroughly cleared of Germans with the exception of non-combatants, who had lost their way.

JANESVILLE FAIR IS OFFICIALLY OPENED BY CHILDREN'S DAY

WONDERFUL DISPLAY OF STOCK, HORSES SWINE, SHEEP AND ARTS AND CRAFTS SHOWN.

EXHIBITS ARE IN PLACE

Tomorrow is Monroe Day With Monroe Band, Philipp and Bancroft Speak and Fast Horses Scheduled.

Janesville's Fair is now officially opened. The work of months of hard work on the part of the directors of the Park Association, has resulted in bringing together for exhibit purposes as one of the finest displays of cattle, swine, sheep, horses, works of the arts and crafts and a field of fast races that has never been equaled on any Wisconsin track in the history of racing in Badgerdom.

With a good day and a good track there is but little doubt that all former track records will be broken Wednesday when the Free For All pace starts. With such starters as Don Danmore 2:00 1/4, Ella M. 2:04 1/4, Rob Roy 2:05 1/4, Addition 2:07 1/4, Magnet 2:10 1/4 and Bessie Woodland 2:11 1/4, the old track record made in '95 by Joe Patchen of 2:04 1/4 will certainly fall.

Wednesday is also Monroe day. Reports from Monroe today were indicative of a large delegation of Green county people being in attendance at the fair here tomorrow, Monroe Day. The Green county fair official program desirous of having a monstrous representation to boost their local fair, Monroe pennants will be distributed at the depot here previous to the departure of the train. The Monroe band will accompany the excursionists.

At twelve-thirty there will be speaking at the grand stand by Hon. E. L. Philipp, conservative republican candidate for United States senator. There comes the race program. The 2:18 pace, the free for all pace, the 2:16 trot. With a field of the finest horses on the circuit to pick from and a fast track it should be a series of races well worth watching.

Today was children's day. In every sense of the word this was true. They began arriving early this morning and continued to stream through the gates until well into the middle of the afternoon. Aside from the special program arranged for the enjoyment of the youthful members of the community, there was a two-year-old colt race and a three-year-old pacing race. The Monroe band furnished the musical inspiration and Prof. Dubock's Society Hippodrome delighted both young and old. The juggler was fine and the side shows and concessions did a lively business.

The special program was as follows: 100 yard dash under 12 years; 1st prize, $1.00; 2nd prize, 50c. 100 yard dash for boys under 16 years; 1st prize, $1.00; 2nd prize, 50c. Half mile pony race, pony to draw four-wheeled vehicle, driven by boy or girl, pony not over 55 inches high; 1st prize, $2.00 2nd prize, $1.00.

One of the biggest features at the fair is the unlimited number of exhibits that are being made ready for the visitors to enjoy by Janesville's business establishments. Up to twelve o'clock today a large number of these exhibits were being placed, while many of the show corners had already been completed. The exhibits were ready for inspection this afternoon: Phil Doherty, "Janesville" Farm Machinery; Wisconsin Carriage Company.

Underneath the grand stand, the majority of manufacturers and retailers who are on the exhibit list, are showing their own commodities. They are: J. M. Bostwick & Sons, Parker Pen Company, Janesville and Beloit Business Colleges, Hanson Furture Company, John C. Nichols Harness Mfg. Company, L. McNamara, hardware, Frank Douglas, hardware; Fred Sheldon, hardware; Keystone Cement Mfg. Company, Ricknell Hardware Company, Wisconsin Music Company, V. J. McGowan, representing the Van Gilder system of Hollow Wall Construction; Caldwell's Best Shop, Mrs. John Hampel, art needlework; Frank Sadler, harness, Janesville Monument Company, Somerville's Sign and Paints, System, A. Denning, contractor; Holland-Furnaces, F. F. Van Coevern, representative.

The large building at the right of the main entrance is used as the Floral

SOLDIERS OF FRANCE GATHER NEAR THE SWISS BORDER TO FIGHT TEUTON FORCE

Near the Swiss border, just beyond Muelhausen in Germany, the French army is said to be massing in preparation for the first great battle of the war. According to reports, there will be thrown into the conflict the greatest strength of the German and French armies. Forty thousand Austrian troops are said to be about ready to join their German allies at the front.

MEAT PRICES TAKE A JUMP IN CHICAGO

Small Receipts of Animals at Stock Yards Cause for Advance.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—An advance of from two to five cents in the price of meat in the local retail market caused the Chicago Butchers' Association to call a meeting to inquire into the causes for the jump in prices. The wholesale firms asserted today that the cause back of the sharp advance in meats was the small receipt of animals at stock yards. Cattle raisers, they declared, were holding back for an expected jump in prices.

ITALY ASKS AUSTRIA FOR AN EXPLANATION

Demand a Statement in Regard to Austrian Bombardment of Montenegrin Seaport.

London, Aug. 11.—According to the correspondent at Rome, the relations between Italy and Austria are becoming more strained. Italy has demanded an explanation of the bombardment of the Puciga compass at Antivari, Montenegro, over which the Italian flag floats and in which there were Italian.

ROCK COUNTY FAIR COMES NEXT WEEK

COMING EXHIBITION PROMISES TO BE GREATER THAN PAST PERFORMANCES.

GROUND ARE IN SHAPE

Racing Card Is Among Best In This Section of Country—Other Attractions Are High-Class.

Evansville, Wisconsin, August 8.—The Big Rock County Fair, which opens at Evansville next Wednesday, August 19, promises all previous fairs ever held here. Great interest is being manifested in every phase of activity, and every one is working hard on plans for next week's exhibition.

Exhibits Received. Entries are already being received in large numbers from exhibitors, both at home and from a distance, and it is confidently predicted that the space allotted each department will be crowded to the limit. The dairy cattle, from all present indications, will be especially strong and will compare favorably with any exhibition in the state. Outside of the state fair at Milwaukee.

Hog Cholera Demonstration. Dr. A. L. Faunce of the bureau of animal industry, will hold a lecture and demonstration on the prevention and treatment of hog cholera at Evansville, Wis. This is a subject of vital interest to every one and should prove a popular feature.

Race Track Improved. The race track and baseball diamond have been graded and leveled, and the home stretch, wide enough to serve eight horses abreast. The recent showers have done wonders for the track, and right now it is second to none in the state.

Great Races Assured. While nothing definite can be learned as yet concerning the final lineup of the races, enough entries have been received to assure as good a card as any fair in Wisconsin will be able to offer.

Savage Horses to Exhibit. A leading attraction will be exhibition mules by George Gano, 2:02, and Dazal Patch, 2:02 1/2, and the world's wagon champion of half mile tracks and will go against his own world's record of 2:02, Thursday, August 20. Dazal Patch is the world's champion 4-year-old pacer, and is entered in two $20,000 purse at the San Francisco exhibition in 1915. He is not being raced anywhere this season, but will be brushed through the stretch in an exhibition mile here, with a view to gaining experience.

Carnival. The ladies of the local W. C. T. U. will have a rest tent at the grounds, where parcels may be checked. This will be a great convenience to ladies attending the fair.

The Davis Carnival company of Chicago will be here fair week, and exhibit on the street every evening. Their show includes a ferris wheel and a merry round, as well as a number of clean carnival acts. It has been highly endorsed wherever it has shown, and is recognized as one of the cleanest carnivals on the road today.

Advertising Campaign On. Advertising Manager E. H. Fiedler, is planning on resuming the advertising campaign the latter part of the week. A very strong and active will be made to get a program into every home in this section of the country.

Good Free Acts. A number of high-class free acts have been secured, and a two hours' exhibition will be given each day. These acts include the six Morocco Arabs, who specialize in acrobatic juggling and pyramid building. Frank Renzetta is a famous acrobatic clown and ventriloquist. Edna and Zella are famous artistic equilibristas, and specialize on slack wire work. These acts are the best ever offered in Evansville, and every one should see them.

Evansville, Aug. 11.—On Saturday, August 8th, occurred the wedding of Miss Charity M. Winsor of this city, and August Handtke of Fulton. The marriage took place at high noon at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Winsor, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

The parlor, where the ceremony was performed, was decorated for the occasion in white and pink. CONGENIAL WORK. And Strength to Perform It.

A person in good health is likely to have a genial disposition, ambition, and enjoy work.

On the other hand, if the digestive organs have been upset by wrong food, work becomes drudgery.

"Until recently," writes a Washington girl, "I was a railroad stenographer, which means full work every day. Like many other girls alone in a large city, I lived at a boarding house. For breakfast, it was mush, greasy meat, soggy cakes, bread coffee. After a few months of this diet I used to feel sleepy and heavy in the mornings. My work seemed a terrible effort and I thought the work was to blame—too arduous.

"At home I had heard my father speak of a young fellow who went long distances in the cold on Grape-Nuts and cream and nothing more for breakfast.

"I concluded if it would tide him over a morning's heavy work, it might help me, so on my way home one night I bought a package and next morning I had Grape-Nuts and milk for breakfast.

"I stuck to Grape-Nuts, and in less than two weeks I noticed improvement. I remember I used to walk the 12 blocks to business and knew how good it was simply to live.

"As to my work—well, did you ever feel the delight of having congenial work and strength to perform it? That's how I felt. I truly believe there's life and vigor in every grain of Grape-Nuts."

GEORGE GANO WILL NOT START IN RACE

Noted Horse Withdrawn Owing to Contract With Evansville Fair Association Not to Race Here.

Owing to the fact that George Gano, the fast pacer owned by M. W. Savage of Minneapolis, is under contract to exhibit at the Rock county fair at Evansville next week, and the contract reads that he must not be exhibited previously or race at any other fair, he will not start in the race for all pace for which he was entered. John C. Nichols received a letter from E. W. Massey, Savage's secretary which explains the situation as follows:

"At the time we entered George Gano in your free-for-all pace, we were rather of the opinion that the Evansville people would make some objection about our starting him there, thinking it would detract from the drawing power of the exhibition which we will give at their town on Thursday, August 20th. We had agreed in our contract with them not to give an exhibition in their immediate vicinity and while this was not an exhibition in the strict sense of the term, it was of course, a public appearance for the horse and we were under moral obligations to respect their wishes in the matter if they should decide that we ought not to start the horse at Janesville. They have asked us not to start him at your town and under the circumstances, we will have to concede to their request, although we were anxious to start there and get another crack at Don Denmore.

MOTOR PARTY EXPECTED TO VISIT IN CITY SOON

Mr. and Mrs. George Leonard Wade and Mr. and Mrs. Percival B. Warr, all of Kansas City, who are motoring in the east, are expected to arrive in Janesville for a visit soon. On their way they will visit at the home of "Uncle Joe" Cannon at Danville, Illinois, and will also visit at the home of Charles Weighman, the Federal league magnate, Mrs. Warr and Mrs. Weighman having several friends since childhood. Mrs. Warr will be remembered as Miss Edna Murdock, formerly of this city.

INTEREST IS TAKEN IN BOUTS TOMORROW

Expect Fans From Milwaukee, Racine, and Chicago to Attend the Star Boxing Exhibition Wednesday Night.

A record attendance for boxing exhibitions is expected by the Bower City Athletic club on Wednesday night when Ray Burns, Milwaukee and Charles Lyle, the "Fighting Farmer," step into action in the opening bout for four rounds. Twenty-eight rounds of milling will be staged and three of the bouts promise to be whirlwind affairs.

The match between Young Scotty of Milwaukee and Kid Mahoney, Racine, is attracting not only local attention but fans are expected from Milwaukee, Racine and even Chicago to witness the test of the two best featherweights in Wisconsin. Scotty went through an hour's boxing last night and this morning was out when the birds were singing, on a long run. Accounts credit Mahoney being in excellent shape for the ten rounds to-morrow night. Wednesday being one day of the Janesville fair, a large number of followers of the roped arena will attend the exhibition, because of the number that will be in the city to attend the races.

The two main preliminaries offered are between evenly matched men of great skill and ability. The eight round bout between Bill Klein and a local fighter, is a grudge battle and will well fought will undoubtedly be the result when these boys answer the sound of the gong.

In the second preliminary, Charlie Waussow, Milwaukee, will box six rounds with Bill Klein. Klein is a freestyle product and it is declared that the fans there have confidence that Klein can hold his own with the best of them. He will have to against the racer who is a local fighter, is a grudge battle and will well fought will undoubtedly be the result when these boys answer the sound of the gong.

With the exception of the curtain-raiser, the bouts are between light men and at this weight boxing is a speedy clever type which is favored by the fans, is bound to result.

Sport Snap Shots

Johnny Coulton, ex-bantam champ, says that Freddie Welsh and Johnny Kilbane are cleverest boys in the game at making a "million bid" for their opponent under the arms in a tight grip and holding him secure. He finds they have him so tight that he can't move. Neither of the fighters for the referee is able to see the trick. But to all appearances the opponent is making no effort to break away from the clinch. Coulton's counts against him. Welsh and Kilbane have used many times when they have needed time to recover from a hard wallop. Coulton's explanation sounds all right, except that it would seem that a real victory would hardly leave Welsh or Kilbane with the strength to hold on so tightly.

With all this sagacity and wisdom Connie Mack seems also to be favored occasionally with a touch of good luck. So it must be when he can pick up a young player, believing him to be an outfielder and finding later that he's a crack pitcher. This is what happened when Connie Mack signed Leslie Davies, a young amateur college boy. The youngster had shown himself such a wizard with the stick that Connie grabbed him for his hitting ability alone. Davies was playing in the outfield when one day in St. Louis, not so long ago, he admitted in conversation with Connie that he could pitch a bit, too. Connie tried him out, and in the first game he pitched against St. Louis he won most handsily. This occurred at a time when the Athletics' mound and Connie Mack greeted the mound, and Connie Mack greeted the discovery of Davies as a pitcher with undisguised delight.

There is to be something of a shake-up in the lineups of the Federal League teams. Gilmore declares that a few large trades would throw a lot of pep into the Feds and work wonders in their general disposition. Gilmore is especially anxious to strengthen St. Louis and Pittsburgh of the Feds and keep them out so that they will be regular first division teams. In fact, it seems to be Gilmore's idea that all of his teams should be of a first division class, and when he pulls the big deals within a short while he is going to try and arrange fast lineups for every team in the league. It is true that the Feds have the material and with the proper disposal of it they might have eight clubs all fighting hard for a berth in the first division.

George Carpenter is already enlisted in the French army, and if Freddie Welsh would only join the British many American pugilists would express pleasure.

AMUSEMENTS

APOLLO THEATRE.
To our Patrons—In presenting to you Wednesday Vitaphone's photo play masterpiece "Million Bid" I believe I am bringing to Janesville You've got to see some t' come back.

one of the greatest motion picture plays ever shown here or elsewhere. It holds the world's record for the length of its run on Broadway, and at $1 admission, too. There are many thrilling and emotional scenes in the play which was adapted from George Cameron's play of "Agnes," a mother's selfishness leads to many heart pains and disappointments which end for a time in a sensational and realistic ship wreck at sea. It is not a play that appeals because of its sensationalism but rather because of a closely woven story and superb acting together with massive and luxurious stage settings. The Vitaphone players have eclipsed all former efforts, and I am sure you will enjoy this play which comes to the Apollo for one day only, Wednesday. Respectfully,
JAMES ZANIAS.

Old age can be cured. The prescription is a simple one: mix open air and a hobby, shake well, and take as many hours a day as possible. No one begins to age until he is bored, and the first gray hair comes when a man suddenly thinks to himself: "What's the use?" Then is the time when a hobby makes life interesting again.—Lippincott's.

Popular Advice.

YOU SAY YOU NEED AMMUNITION, WHY YOUR BELT IS FULL

YOU DON'T CATCH ON JUDGE, I WAS HINTING FOR SOME OF THAT REAL TOBACCO CHEW

THE SPORTSMAN GIVES THE GOOD JUDGE A POINTER.

NOBODY wants to put a big, bulgy wad of tobacco in his cheek. All around you, men are using "Right-Cut"—the Real Tobacco Chew. And telling their friends about it, of course—just like you'd tell your friends about a thing that brings so much comfort. "Right-Cut" is pure, rich, full-bodied tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

If your dealer does not sell it, send us 10c. in stamps for a pouch of "Right-Cut" Chewing Tobacco.

No boy ever became great as a man who did not in his youth learn to save money. Teaching children the value of money is a very important part of their education and one which is sadly neglected in many homes and schools today.

Thrift is established by practice rather than theory, by example more than by precept.

To the Public

My new shop at No. 57 Park Street is open and ready for business. I have installed new machinery and will do General Blacksmithing, Horse Shoeing, Wagon and Carriage Repairing. We will turn out nothing but first class work, as my force will all be competent mechanics and every job leaving the shop will be made absolutely satisfactory.

Just give me a chance to demonstrate the kind of work we will turn out. We know that our prices and service will please you.

FINE STOCK EXHIBIT ATTRACTS ATTENTION

HIGH CLASS ANIMALS COMPLETE FOR BLUE RIBBONS AT JANSVILLE FAIR.

IT'S A GREAT SHOWING

Big Display of Cattle, Sheep and Hogs Put Local Show in First Rank.

Judging Starts Tomorrow.

High class blooded stock, as good as any ever seen at any fair in the state, is one of the big features of the Jansville Fair, which enjoyed its successful opening day at the Park Association grounds today.

Although the stock raisers had provided three large stock barns, the superintendents of departments were crowded for room, so eager were exhibitors to secure space.

All available room in the stock pens had been taken at noon today, and the exhibitors were crowded for room, so eager were exhibitors to secure space.

The fears of the directors expressed earlier in the season that the stock exhibits would suffer owing to the early date at which they should be held, were set at rest for once and all when they began listing the entries, and it looks now as if additional stock barns would be the most important addition to equipment which will be needed for the 1916 exhibition.

One fact which is the cause for extreme gratification is the large number of Rock county breeders who have returned from a few days' stay at the Bostwick cottage up the river, where they were the guests of Mrs. Ida Sewell and her daughter, Miss Emily, who have left to spend a month in the east, at Wilcott, Vermont, and other points.

JANSVILLE FAIR IS OFFICIALLY OPENED BY CHILDREN'S DAY

Exhibit hall, together with other displays, including economic, educational, painting and needlework contests. The exhibits include Edward Amerphoff's floral corner, a high school display of the ground and have placed exhibits. Fred B. Burton, dealer in windmills and gasoline engines, Keystone Industries, Chicago, St. Louis, Mo., and F. H. Green & Son, Hay, Grain and Seeds, are located in that section.

Work of Preparation.

Late preparations for the fair went forward with a dash Monday afternoon and evening. Every official, exhibitor, attendant and others who have anything whatever to do with making this year's show a success, given by Milwaukee, at least, last evening were few and nearly all available space was well filled before the night's work was finished.

The foremen gave thanks for the shower of yesterday. It was a Godsend they said. They were of the opinion that the courses would be in even better condition than last year.

Edward Amerphoff, who had been on a fast track, competition today, said, would be keen as the large fields to start in each of the races would be bound to bring forth neck and neck finishes.

The barn junkies, between jobs, gathered in scattered groups to discuss the merits of their respective steeds. Hot arguments ensued, but without mutual friendliness permitted not of blows.

In the sheep and swine and in the cattle pens practically all exhibitors have placed their animals in the best possible condition. Many would-be exhibitors being unable to find stalls. The blue ribbon stock of breeding farms within a large radius are here. Yesterday attendants were busy with the sheep and swine and shining the bodies with pipe clay. They wanted them de luxe for possible purchasers.

The pigs and swine were spick and span. The pens were sweet smelling and clean, and presented a neat appearance with their shaving-covered alleys and stalls. Sheep breeders have entered excellent pens and a large number of different breeds are here to be shown.

Taking the cattle exhibit as a whole it seems that not only the exhibitors but the general public has entered its produce, but the small farmers in general have their swine and sheep and cows entered. This speaks well for Rock county and vicinity, demonstrating that more and more each day to realize the possibilities of blooded stock.

Floral hall will be the goal of many of the visitors. The work of the exhibitors of like nature. Placing the work of entrants was hurried yesterday afternoon to have the building ready for the opening this morning.

Those in charge of the exhibit in good time and today many visitors admired and commented upon the novelties on display.

Along the midway stands and at the entrance to the exhibit hall, a baby artist, the hoop thrower, who tosses for the gilded clock, the shaver and the other novelties, are three rings for a dime. The circus lemonade man was ready. So was the hot dog dispenser, the ice cream cone man and all the other standees who were quick to respond to the hungry crowd.

The merry-go-round, the ferris wheel, the sideshow barker with his marvellous and world astounding descriptions of the wonders of the world were ready. And all were busy today.

The society circus riders limbered up their horses during yesterday afternoon. Some fancy riding was shown, and the crowd was much interested.

The DuBrook people are bound to be high class. John Meyers, the seventeen-year-old youth of this troupe, who was accidentally struck on the head by a horse, suffered no ill effects from the blow, although he lost a large amount of blood and received a bad scalp wound at the temple.

Fair officials expressed much pleasure yesterday with the entrance of local firms in the industrial class. Practically every company and store of J

TEACHING OUR CHILDREN SNOBBISHNESS.
CHILDREN are naturally democrats. Whether the pampered babes of the very wealthy, waited on by trained nurses, and fed out of golden mugs, begin to sense their superiority even in the cradle, I do not know, but the ordinary child is a democrat for a few blessed years. And then his parents—more likely his mother—begin to instill the principles of snobbery into his mind, which is all too quick to receive them. I do not know anything that makes me sadder than to see this process begun.

"I don't want you to play with the little girl next door," says the mistress of the summer cottage to her six-year-old daughter. "Why mother?" "Because that's not the kind of a little girl I want you to play with."

"But, mother, she's awful nice and—"

"Don't tease. I said you couldn't and I know best. You'll understand such things later. They're not the kind of children I want you to associate with. That's all."

Having dismissed her daughter with this germ of snobbery in her mind, the mother turns to her guest. "They are just people who are down here for two or three weeks. I don't know who they are and I don't want Doris to associate with them. I understand the father is a mechanic."

As a matter of fact they unquestionably were plain people, the kind who have a two-weeks' outing in the country, but the whole summer in the country, but the apparently was the only thing against them. The children were sweet and well-bred, comparing favorably with Doris.

From the point of view of contamination I am sure nothing could have been more unnecessary than this prohibition. But of course it was necessary that Doris should learn to be a snob, and for a first lesson in that direction this was a great opportunity. After a few more lessons she will learn to "draw the line" for herself.

Having spoken of the danger of contamination I want to take this opportunity to say something on that point. Middle class mothers often object to having their children associated with "the lower classes" because they may learn something objectionable from them. To my way of thinking there is not one whit more danger from the poor child than from the rich child. Let me tell you something. As a child I was a thorough democrat in my associations and frequently fraternized with the denizens of our local substitute for slums. Yet never did I hear a word of evil from any of these children and the only evil I did hear was communicated to me by a girl who was, if anything, above my own social class.

As we grow older we all tend to be snobbish, whether we base our sense of superiority on the fact that we have more high-priced cars and a more magnificent house than our neighbor or that we live in the front tenement instead of the back. It's the hardest inculcated in the world to fight as I can testify to my own shame. And the part of a true mother is to help her child sense the brotherhood of man and (even more difficult to establish) the sisterhood of woman, instead of teaching him snobbery.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two chums, 13 and 14 years old. How can we take tan off?

(2) We have light hair and blue eyes and a light complexion. Do you consider us pretty?

(3) Are we old enough to wear corsets?

(4) Do you think it is not too early to correspond with our boy friends?

(5) How can we make our fingernails pretty?

TWO READERS.
(1) Bathe the face with buttermilk at night and leave it on till morning; then wash off with hot water and a mild soap, rinse in cold water and rub in cream if the skin seems a trifle sore. Keep this up every night till the tan is gone. Do not go out in the sun again to get another coat of tan, as the face will be worse than ever after this treatment. Wear a veil and carry a sunshade.

(2) Almost all young girls are pretty, my dears, if they add sweetness to pretty skin and hair.

(3) No, I hope you will never need to wear them. Corsets are not fashion any more. Corsets are not. Is it not if you keep them only as ends.

(4) Keep them cut evenly and smooth at the edges. After washing the hands press the skin away from the edges of the nails and clean under the nails with a soft wood pointed stick. If the nails are brittle rub a little vaseline or cold cream into them at night. Polish them with a bit of chamois skin after washing.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please give us a recipe for giving the hair an egg shampoo?

(2) A good recipe for French dressing?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a girl of 19 and have been making my regular bedtime either 10:30 or 11. Is this too late?

(2) Is it proper for girls not in mourning to wear black?

(3) Is it a terrible disgrace for a girl's petticoat to hang unintentionally?

THANK YOU.
(1) Be in bed by 10 o'clock at the latest, my dear; 9:30 would be better. If it is inside their income they buy it. Here in your own home town you can get boiling beef at ten cents a pound, you can prepare it in so many different ways that space will not be used for directions. Vegetables, too, are very reasonable—that is, if you buy in season. There is where so many housekeepers take a financial header. They see something that looks appetizing and without stopping to figure if it is inside their income they buy it. Then they have a deficit in the wallet—turn-the-house-sum and they wait over high prices. They go down town, rush home late for supper, stop and buy something that's already to serve and twice the price it would have cost them had they stayed at home and prepared it, and again they wait at high prices.

Did you ever stop to think what you would do were your husband's salary a thing of the past for strange as it may seem to you today, it will be some day. Are you as good a business manager as your husband is and are you careful of his money? Will you ever own a home of your own?

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

When broiling steak, brush with olive oil. It will keep in the juice. Always flour your pie tins instead of greasing them. You won't have soft pies.

Soup quickly goes sour in the warm days, but it will keep sweet if a pinch of carbonate of soda is added to every quart. Cakes get very dry in warm weather, but if placed in a tin box with an apple they will keep moist. Renew the apple when withered. The cake will not taste.

Flowers withered quickly in the heat, but a small piece of camphor in the water will keep them fresh much longer.

THE TABLE.

German Apple Cake.—Sift together two cups of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt and three and one-half level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Work into the dry ingredients one-fourth of a cup of butter. Beat one egg, add three-fourths of a cup of milk and stir into the first mixture. Spread in a well-buttered shallow pan. Have pared and cored four or five apples, press down into the dough; sprinkle the apples with well-dried currants and the edge of the dough thickly with powdered sugar. Bake until the apples are tender and serve with cream and sugar or hard sauce.

Apple Dumplings.—Take large baker's buns, slice off the outer crust and cut so as to make a cup; brush over with melted butter and place in the oven to dry and brown. Remove the cores from medium-sized apples and bake. After they are baked fill the centers with butter and sugar and place the apple in the cup and serve with whipped cream.

Baked Apple Dumplings.—Cut rich pie crust into six-inch squares. In the center of each place a small apple, pared and cored. Fill the apples with sugar, cinnamon and a whole clove. Wet the edges of the pastry with white of egg, fold it over the apple, pinch and tuck to look like a bun. Bake about forty minutes in a moderate oven. Roll one-half inch thick and cut with a biscuit-cutter; put two tablespoonfuls of stewed apples on one-half of the dough; fold the other half over and seal the edges together, place this in a baking pan, brush with milk and bake for twenty minutes.

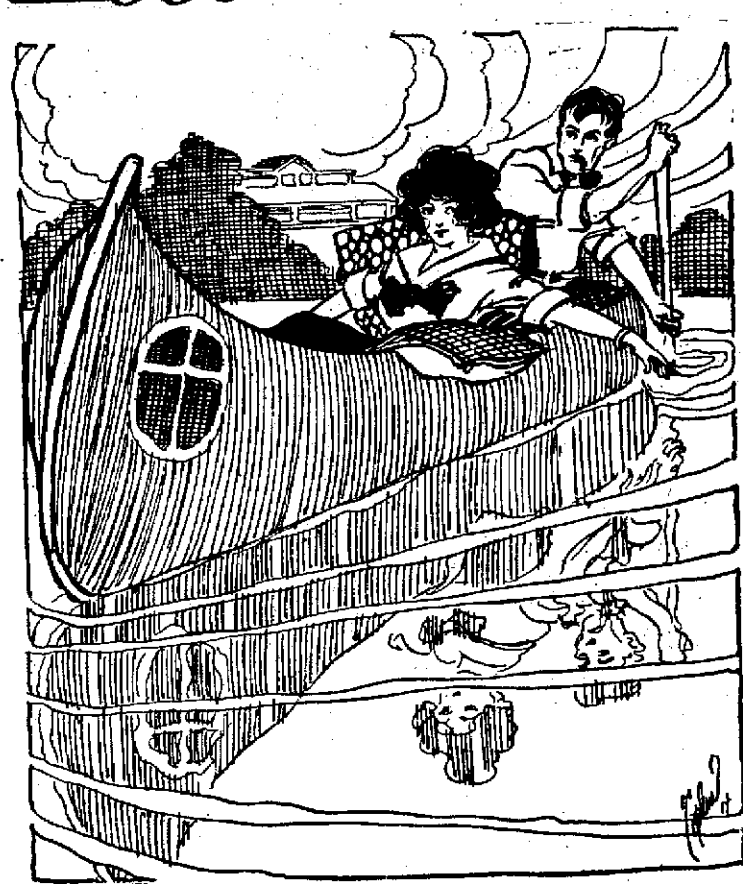

Apple Sherbet.—Boil one quart of apples in a pint cup of water until it is mash; strain through a sieve; add the juice of one orange and one lemon, half a pound of sugar and a quart of water; beat well and freeze. When it becomes like slush add milk or cream, white of one egg and finish freezing.

Flavored Sugar.—For a flavored sugar, to be used in cakes or icings and confectionary, pick the rose petals apart and set them to dry in the sun. When they are dry, pound them without turning. Put one cup of the dried leaves well pressed down and one cup of fine granulated sugar together and pound in a wooden bowl until powdered. Rub through a fine wire strainer put into a small jar, put over the rubber and turn the cover tightly.

Apple Tapioca Pudding.—Pick over and wash and soak three-quarters of a cup of pearl tapioca. Pour one quart of boiling water over it and cook in the open boiler until transparent; stir often and add half a teaspoonful of salt. Core and pare seven apples. Put them in a round baking dish and fill the cores with sugar and lemon juice. Pour the tapioca over them and bake till the apples are very soft. Serve hot or cold with sugar and cream. A delicious variation may be made by using half pears of canned quinces and half apples. Sometimes it will be necessary to add more water, as the tapioca varies in the amount it will absorb, and the longer it takes to soften the apples the more water will be needed.

Honeycake.—Mix one-half level teaspoonful of salt with one cup of white cornmeal. Add boiling water to moisten and swell the meal and enough cold milk to make a batter. Stir in one level teaspoonful of baking powder and drop from a spoon into a well-buttered griddle. When brown put a bit of butter on each and turn to brown the other side. When done place in the oven with the door open for five or six minutes. Care must be taken not to have the meal too wet at first.

Peggy & Company

An Athletic Young Man Dawns on Peggy's Horizon, but He Lacks Sentiment.

Peggy feels that canoeing in the gloaming is a pastime that is always best enjoyed in a quiet and meditative mood. As there little barque slips past the overhanging boughs at the river's bank Peggy settles back among the cushions, drawing her sweater closer about her, content to ponder nature's beauty at eventide. Not so her companion.

Mr. Todd, the young man with the paddles, is a new acquaintance and a youth of some athletic achievements. He is visiting Walter Cowell and the little canoeing party has been arranged that Mr. Todd may have the pleasure of Peggy's society. Some water closer about her, content to ponder nature's beauty at eventide. Not so her companion.

Mr. Todd, the young man with the paddles, is a new acquaintance and a youth of some athletic achievements. He is visiting Walter Cowell and the little canoeing party has been arranged that Mr. Todd may have the pleasure of Peggy's society. Some water closer about her, content to ponder nature's beauty at eventide. Not so her companion.

Peggy, though she finds her new and athletic acquaintance very interesting indeed, feels that she would like him better if he could put a little restraint on his muscular exuberance. Mr. Todd seems to regard canoeing as a test for his strength and would ply the craft at break-neck speed were it not for Peggy's mild expostulations.

From a camp along the river, young male voices mingle pleasantly in a song of love, with an occasional twang of the guitar. As the quiet enchantment of it all assails her Peggy feels a stronger liking for the young man behind her. He is rather good looking and it's such a lovely evening.

Mr. Todd, sighting the other canoe at this point, shouts over proposing a race. And in spite of protests and importunities from Peggy he speeds splashing after the others in an effort to overtake him. All of this intrudes dreadfully on the pleasure of the evening for Peggy and she wishes that Walter Cowell's friend were not quite so healthy.

The excess of vigor and energy incident to the full glow of health is, of course, a very enviable quality, but it seems to Peggy that there are times when it might be subdued. Canoeing in the evening as any young girl knows, is a romantic affair. Mr. Todd seems entirely insensible of anything in the nature of romance. To this extent he is disappointing.

Perhaps, Peggy, it would be well if you took a greater interest in the strenuous diversions. A surfeit of poetic raptures may be fine for the soul, but they don't help the appetite. (Continued.)

Poverty Molasses Cookies.—One cup molasses, one-third cup hot water, two tablespoonfuls lard, one teaspoonful each salt, soda and cinnamon, half teaspoonful ginger. Stir in flour until a dough will stand up in a ball. Roll the dough without rolling over, and leave the dough in a cold place all night. Do not roll thin or mix in more flour on the board. Roll out the dough, cut into squares instead of cookies. Lay each cookie in a saucer of sugar and place in the baking pan, sugar side up.

Good Gingerbread.—One cup molasses, half cup boiling water, two and a half cups flour, one teaspoonful each soda and cinnamon, half teaspoonful salt and some of ginger, four tablespoonfuls lard.

Macaroni Spanish Cream.—Granulated gelatin, one tablespoonful; milk, three cups; sugar, three cups; egg, one-half; vanilla, one teaspoonful; salt, one-quarter teaspoonful; macaroni, three-quarters of a pound. Put the gelatin into a cup of cold water to soften. Have the milk heating in a double boiler; add the gelatin to this and stir until dissolved, and pour over the slightly-beaten yolk; return to the double boiler, stir constantly and cook until it thickens; remove from the fire, flavor and add white of egg beaten stiff and the pounded or powdered dry macaroni; turn into individual molds, chill and serve with plain cream or ice cream. If a large mold is used, more gelatin will be required.

Johnnycake.—One cup of sugar, one egg and butter the size of an egg beaten together. Sift together one cup of flour, one cup of cornmeal and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix all together and add one cup of water. Bake in quick oven.

GRIEF-STRICKEN SINCE MOTHER'S DEATH

William Bailey comforting his grief-stricken daughter Madeline.

Perhaps one of the most pathetic scenes ever witnessed in a courtroom was enacted at Mineola, N. Y., when Madeline Bailey, seventeen-year-old daughter of the woman who was murdered in the office of Dr. Carman, took the stand to tell what she knew concerning the relations between her mother and Dr. Carman. Miss Bailey is a handsome girl and it was under the guidance of a good mother that she became a young woman of modest refinement.

Dog Adopts Rabbits.
Unwonted affection between animals of different species is evidenced near Gortin county, Tyrone, Ireland. A local farmer named Fleming, has a female fox terrier which was deprived of her two pups when they were four weeks old. Two weeks ago she was out hunting and came on a rabbit burrow in which were bunnies two or three days old. Three of these the dog carried carefully to her kennel, and since then she has been rearing them.

Use for Lily Leaves.
A powder made from the leaves of water lilies is successful in making various fabrics waterproof. The inventor of the powder noticing that water was not absorbed when it fell on the leaves, but slid off, conceived the idea that the same substance which made the lily leaf waterproof might be used in connection with fabrics. The powder from the leaves is mixed with water, and the process consists in immersing the fabric in this mixture.

Every Day Talks To Every Day People

(BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.)

"The prices on all necessities are so high that it is simply impossible for a working man with a family to own a home. Anyway it is cheaper to rent!"

Taking the last statement first—is it? We forgot to say that the above is an extract from a conversation between two women who were enjoying the matinee at one of our local theatres the other afternoon.

Is it cheaper to rent? Of course you do not have to pay insurance, taxes, repair bills for a hundred and one things most every year, but neither do you have the expense of knowing that you have that for which every man who lives in the world strives to have—a home of his own.

If you rent you can always find fault with the place when callers come. That is always a safe and very instructive topic for conversation; it makes the caller think you have more of this world's goods than you really have for you to be so critical, and some folks like to hear you say that to make a decidedly good impression. But you lose that maddening self-complacency that you air to the caller when rent day comes around; when it comes to putting your money in the other fellow's pocket.

Why don't you own a home of your own? Are you afraid to go in debt? When just plain folks are in debt they generally plan the spending of their money more carefully; they look twice before they let a dollar slip through their (sometimes) incompetent fingers. If you have a debt to pay you deny yourself unnecessary things that you may meet your payment. There are so many little things on every side to take a person's money that if you have not some place to put it, it is apt to be wheedled right out of your pocket ere you realize. The prices on all the necessities are not so high as to make a home prohibitive if two people make up their minds to have one. There is nothing in this world that we may not have if we only want it hard enough to put everything else off the track and go right after it and stick until we get it.

The manager of this paper has had the writer go about to the different shops and stores and buy from a slender purse the necessary foodstuffs to feed a family. The food was to be wholesome and nourishing as it is ever a poor policy to save money at the expense of one's health. Right here in your own home town you can get boiling beef at ten cents a pound, you can prepare it in so many different ways that space will not be used for directions. Vegetables, too, are very reasonable—that is, if you buy in season. There is where so many housekeepers take a financial header. Carpenters Can Apply BESTWALL and Save the Time and Muss of Plastering Bestwall is of as much value to the contractor and carpenter as to the owner. It is nailed directly to the studs by the carpenter in a fraction of the time required to apply lath, then wait for plaster to set. Extreme cold or wet may prevent the laying of plaster and hold up carpenters on outside work, but they go right ahead where Bestwall is used, without a minute lost, regardless of weather.

Bestwall House Lining

In addition to its simplicity in erection, Bestwall is cleaner to handle. Plaster dropping to the floor, dirt, cold or wet may prevent the laying of plaster and hold up carpenters on outside work, but they go right ahead where Bestwall is used, without a minute lost, regardless of weather.

Any way you take it, Bestwall has the advantage over lath and plaster or any wall board, for it is guaranteed not to warp, crack or shrink and is absolutely fireproof.

FARMERS THAT HAVE SILAGE TO BENEFIT OVER COMPETITORS

Forethought And Good Management Will Prove a Big Factor to Some Agriculturists.

(By Allen B. West.)

Now that the pastures are getting brown as a result of the dry weather the dairy farmer who has a good supply of silage is the one who will reap the profits of foresight and good management, not only during these present summer months, but during the fall months as well, for cows that shrink in their milk now do not as a rule come back to their normal flow during this lactation period. Thousands of dollars are lost in Wisconsin as well as in other states by allowing such a shortage of milk during the heated season. In fact, Rock county contributes thousands to this shortage as there is now general complaint among the farmers of the falling off of milk supply.

There are of course other contributing factors in this loss, such as flies and heat, but the scarcity of appetizing, succulent feed is the greatest. Some farmers overcome this by the use of silage crops, but most farmers think silage is less trouble, and may be fed more economically than other green feeds.

The department of agriculture at Madison has the following on this subject:

Corn silage is the cheapest green feed that dairymen can use up to the time the corn crop reaches the milk stage, according to the annual report of the director of the agricultural experiment station, University of Wisconsin, which has just been published and will be mailed to any resident of the state free of charge. The report is full of interesting matter on this question.

For a number of years the animal husbandry and agricultural chemistry departments have carried on tests to determine the relative value of corn silage and soiling crops as summer feeds. As regards milk and butter production alone, the two feeds proved of practically equal value.

"However," observes the report, "silage can be produced at less expense than soiling crops, as it requires less labor to plow, fit, and plant a field of corn than to prepare and plant, at different times, an equal area of soiling crops."

"Corn silage is uniform in quality throughout the year and is well liked by the cows, proving more palatable than the early soiling crops, such as green clover or peas and oats. Owing to the different climatic conditions from season to season, it is, moreover, difficult to provide a succession of soiling crops which will furnish the ample supply of green food through the summer."

On farms where a sufficient number of cows are kept, therefore, silage is the most economical green feed for summer, up to the time when the corn crop reaches the milk or roasting stage, when, if desired, the green corn can be substituted for silage."

As to the filling of silos the following is timely:

Carelessness and ignorance in seeding and harvesting alfalfa has made many farmers suspicious of this great forage plant. Haphazard methods of filling silos has likewise spoiled many thousands tons of good corn and given silage a "black-eye." Careful tramping and leveling, together with other essential features in filling the silo are outlined by W. E. Markey of the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin.

"Corn makes the best silage when the majority of the ears are dented or just beginning to glaze. If corn is put into the silo before this stage of maturity is reached, the silage becomes very sour or acid and is apt to have a low feeding value."

"When corn becomes dry from being frosted or allowed to get ripe, it will make good silage if water is added at filling time. No definite rule can be given as to the right amount of water to add, the aim should be to make the moisture content equal to that of green corn.

"It is very essential that the cut corn be thoroughly mixed after it is blown into the silo. If this is not done the better portions will fall in one place and cause the silage to settle unevenly, resulting in much loss, due to spoiling."

"The process of filling, the cut material should be kept slightly higher at the edges than in the center, and well tramped close to the sides where friction prevents it from settling. It is not necessary to tramp in the center of the silo for the weight of the silage there is sufficient to insure thorough packing. Silos that are deep and of large diameter require less tramping than those of smaller dimensions."

DIRECTORS TO TAKE CHILDREN ON HIKE

Webster School Boys and Girls Will Have Outing at Crystal Springs.

Weather permitting the first of a series of hikes given under the direction of the playground system of this city will be held Wednesday when the boys and girls of the Webster school will be taken to Crystal Springs for an outing. The children will meet at that point at nine o'clock, from where they will journey to their destination at the river resort. The return will be made about five o'clock so that the children will be home before dark. The children have been requested to bring their own dinner. The afternoon will be spent in playing many different games.

Walter Cox, supervisor of all the grounds, and the director of the Webster school, will have charge of the party. It is expected and hoped by the directors that some of the mothers will go on the trip. From the present outlook the number who will go will be hundred. Because of Children's Day at the Janesville fair, the four playgrounds were closed throughout the day. The swimming lessons in the morning were also disbanded.

ROCK PRAIRIE

Rock Prairie, August 10.—The Rock Prairie Y. M. C. group will have an entertainment Wednesday evening, August 26, at the home of George McLay. A quartette has been organized and "stunts" are being prepared. Remember the date and call your friends. Rev. C. Y. Love will spend his vacation at New Wilmington, Penn. Announcement regarding services at the U. P. church next Sunday will be made later.

Mrs. James O'Brien and two children of Minnesota are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKee.

A number of young ladies enjoyed an auto trip to Delavan lake and picnic there last Wednesday. Those who made the trip were: Maude and Luella Howarth, Pearl Barless, Jean Hadden, Sadie Hadden, Margaret McLay, Elizabeth Lamb, Janet Mair and Agnes and Grace McLay.

The Rock Prairie Y. M. C. group will play a baseball game on the Y. M. C. diamond Saturday afternoon, August 15, with the team of the Shore Y. M. C. group.

EAST CENTER

East Center, Aug. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Will Dixon were given a complete surprise party Sunday afternoon when about fifty relatives and friends took possession of their spacious home. It being their tenth wedding anniversary. The afternoon was most pleasantly spent in a social way by the self-invited guests. A very delicious picnic supper was served, to which all did ample justice. Although Mr. and Mrs. Dixon had no hint of the party they prepared themselves equal to the occasion. They were the recipients of a great many useful and beautiful presents.

Miss Wanda Schroeder of Janesville, spent a few days at the home of Elmer last week.

Misses Mary and Alice Roberly have been spending several days with their brother, John and family, of Madison.

The fine rains were much appreciated by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Davis.

PORTER

Porter, Aug. 10.—Miss Rosella Casey of Madison is enjoying her vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Casey.

A large number from this vicinity attended the T. A. & B. picnic at Edgerton on Wednesday and Thursday, and all report a good time.

Miss Ada Buskmaster and James McBeth of Janesville were week end visitors at the home of Charles White.

Mrs. Peterson is visiting relatives in Beloit.

Friends in this vicinity extend their heartfelt sympathy to Mr. Moore and children in the loss of a kind and loving father and husband.

STATE CONVENTIONS IN LONE STAR STATE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Dallas, Texas, August 11.—All political parties in Texas held state conventions today. The Democratic party met at El Paso for the first time. Drafting of a state platform was the principal business, state candidates having been elected at the primaries on July 25. There was little likelihood of the convention disregarding the primary selections.

The administration of President Wilson was almost certain to be sweeping endorsed. Before the convention met there were rumors that former Senator Joseph W. Bailey would attempt to obtain a qualified endorsement of the Wilson-underwood tariff, but administration forces had been warned and were here in force.

The insertion of a prohibition plank was to be fought bitterly. Although the sentiment of the white Democratic voters on prohibition taken on July 25 was in favor of saloons, a fight for a prohibition plank was to be waged at the convention.

Republicans held their state convention in Waco today. Besides a platform, a state ticket was to be nominated. The Republicans expect to wage a stronger campaign this fall than ever before. Of course, the ultimate victory of the Democratic state ticket is not in the slightest danger. The Republicans have one member in each branch of the legislature, the remainder are Democrats.

The Progressives met today at San Antonio to nominate a state ticket and draft a platform. They rank behind the Republicans in Texas in the last presidential campaign.

ALBANY

Albany, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Alcie Webster Simmons of Brooklyn is visiting her brother, Norman Webster, and sister, Mrs. John Sherbondy and Mrs. Lucinda Stephenson.

Mrs. Peterson of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Mrs. Almira Dodge of Broadhead visited their sisters, Mrs. Serbondy and Mrs. Stephenson, last week.

The concert given by the two choirs, young people and orchestra, at the Baptist church last evening drew a large crowd and was enjoyed by all. Ray Maulkow was in Evansville Saturday.

Chas. Fogarty and family of Oregon are visiting at the Miss Ellen Martin home.

Mr. Roy Bowman and daughter, Gladys, accompanied by Grandmother as far as Madison Wednesday and returned home Thursday evening. Mrs. Bowman will visit a son there and then will return to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Edwards were at home from Monroe yesterday.

Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitcomb drove to Evansville, Ind., where they met Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Jordan and son on their return trip from England. They came home all well and sound after a two months' visit with their people in England. They were escorted the last two days at sea by a German cruiser on one side and an English boat on the other.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, Aug. 10.—Clayton Murdock and wife and K. E. Niles and wife were over Sunday visitors at the home of W. N. Palmer of the town of Spring Valley.

Rev. W. N. Nassegh, who has been conducting parochial school at Albany, has closed his term and returned to Orfordville on Monday.

There was no evening preaching at the M. E. church on Sunday, owing to illness in the pastor's family.

One of the finest rains of the season visited this section of the county on Monday, which greatly gladdened the hearts of everyone. Tobacco, corn and other crops began to suffer for want of moisture.

On Saturday evening as Alvin Thompson was driving through town, his horse became frightened and in some way his buggy collided with one being driven by Arthur Tollefson in such a way as to upset the latter. Tollefson's horse took fright, and for a time it looked as though something serious might happen, but after being dragged nearly half of the way across the business section of the village, he managed to bring the frightened animal to a standstill. Aside from a few scratches on the buggy and a few on the driver, no one was any the worse for the experience.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It will pay you to do so. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

True Greatness. He only is a great man who can neglect the applause of the multitude, and enjoy himself independent of its favor. — Steele.

Ponce de Leon Failed; His Prize Is Found

Ponce de Leon, the daring explorer, searched among the swamps of Florida for the Fountain of Youth, which the Indians said would restore power and make people young. He did not find it.

Thousands of chronic intestinal, bowel and stomach sufferers have written to Geo. H. Mayr, 134 Whiting St., Chicago, in quest of health. They have found it. His remedy, composed of healing vegetable oils from France, has indeed given them back the health of youth.

Why suffer from indigestion, gases on the stomach, fainting spells, torpid liver, constipation and all the evils of a disordered stomach when there is relief here? Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold here by all druggists.

TUBERCULOSIS

In addition to plenty of fresh air and proper diet, those suffering from or who are predisposed to tuberculosis are recommended to use Eckman's Alternative to stop night sweats, banish fever and hasten recovery. This medicine, by reason of its successful use during the past, warrants the fullest investigation possible by every sufferer. Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections, and in up-building the system. It contains no narcotics, nor harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by leading druggists. Write to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries.

You Should Worry If

it were difficult to find a safe and reliable remedy for the ailments due to irregular or defective action of the stomach, liver or bowels. These ailments are likely to attack anyone; likely, too, to lead to worse sickness if not relieved.

Beecham's Pills

are famous the world over, for their power to correct these troubles certainly and safely. They cleanse the system, purify the blood and act as a general tonic upon body, brain and nerves. Indigestion, biliousness, constipation might, indeed, cause you prolonged suffering and expose you to danger if Beecham's Pills

"All right," he returned to Dick. "Young man, for a child of your years you are blessed with a wonderful foresight. Your pickles are as welcome as you are. The fact is, my wife has been to the matinee and it was too much for her. There wasn't a thing in the house to eat till you came."

"Shades of Don Juan! If you've turned cannibals I think I'll be going. I like to be popular, but not so much so. I brought this for protection." He pointed to his feast. "Won't it suffice?"

"Perfectly. I never could digest socialism and I'm sure I couldn't digest a socialist. Come on. Let us prepare for the royal and hilarious debauch."

Dick assisted with the cloth and silverware. "Ha," he exclaimed, "I knew it. Telepathy. A dynamic thought wave on the corner below told me the ice box was empty. With such lunces I could play the market and beat the system at its own game."

"Forget the system on Wednesday night, Dick. You need a rest."

"I can't. I met a friend of yours today who is part of it."

"Who?"

"Brand?"

"Brand? Who is he?"

"Oh, you know him. John Brand. He's the big man in the Hudson Cement company. Said he knew you. Used to go to the same school."

"Oh, certainly. I should say I do know him. That was seven years ago, though. I didn't recollect the name at first. How did my name come up?"

"Just the usual way. When you interview a member of the system he wants to talk about everything except what you want to talk about. My paper is interested in these big dams that are being built down in Pennsylvania and out West. Brand, through his firm and the subsidiary companies, has practically got a monopoly on the cement part of the deal. The paper sent me against him, but he talked about everything from the time he first grabbed the bottle till he got his college diploma and that's how you came up. He mentioned his class at Cornell and I knew it was yours, so I thoughtlessly asked him if he knew you."

"You bet he did."

"Yes, and I'm sorry for it."

"Why, didn't you like him?"

"Oh, I suppose he's no worse than the others. It's just the breed, that's all. Get the knife and carve the tongue. If I get started talking about Brand and his kind I'll lose my appetite."

"Well, Dick, I'll own up. I was leading you on when I told you I didn't remember him. I wanted to see what you knew. I saw Brand yesterday, though that was the first time since we left college. Strange we should run into him at the same time. He's coming out here tonight."

"What for?"

"Why, because he wants to, I suppose. Didn't he tell you we were schoolmates?"

"I know, but Brand isn't the kind that comes out to Staten Island to renew a social acquaintance with a dormitory for years. He's got something on his mind and you'll have something on yours if you get mixed up with him. I'd advise you to get out the little armor of boyhood principle and virtue and encase yourself within. Take it from me, when the system smiles at you, you need protection."

"Don't worry, old pal; I guess I can take care of myself with Brand. I was always a little stronger than he at school, both in studies and out. Besides, I don't think he's coming purposely to see me. He said he had to get over this way Wednesday evening and would drop in. I think it's curiosity to see how I live as much as anything."

"Poor Bob! Blinded from the start. The curiosity of Mr. Brand and his like concerning my friend is limited to inquiring into the capacity of his bank roll. It's the bank account first and humanity afterwards, and a long way after. Don't flatter yourself that Brand is interested in you and your $3,000 bungalow unless he thinks he can use you or steal the house."

"All right, Deacon. Take your seat on the tail of the cart and preach away. I know it all by heart and might save you the trouble."

"Memory, Bob, not heart—you stand corrected. When you have it in your heart, I'll lead you to one of my silent places and let you place the bomb. I have some sweet ones picked out."

CHAPTER V.

The Bird's First Plumage.

"Jane," Reynolds called, "come in and save us from devastation. The red ball is up and Dick is skating to perdition."

"Coming now," she answered, and appeared in a charming house gown. Charming it looked to them, anyway, and her husband embraced her.

"I know you'll excuse me, Dick," she said. "You're such an old friend that I don't feel I have to dress for you."

"Dress? What do you call that delightful delineation of sartorial art?"

"Art at $1.98 a picture, Dick. But I'm glad you like it. And it won't arouse any of your socialistic tendencies, will it?"

"Now, Jane, that's cruel. There's only one thing I condone in the members of the system and that is that they spend a good portion of their loot on their wives. I could almost forgive Bob for joining hands with the brigands if he did it for your sake."

She patted his arm. "Thank you, my doubly welcome guest," she said. "I always knew there was a grain or two of reason behind those vaporous dreams of yours. And this—she helped herself to some of the tongue—'is another evidence of your practicality. What would we do without this rebel, Bob? I always put a ring around the Wednesdays on my calendar as the one day the sun doesn't set in this place."

Dick bowed. "Such eloquence, my dear hostess, or—guest, should I say?" and he indicated the array of pickled delicacies.

"Guest, if you will, Dick. You certainly saved the day. I never have been such an ungrateful wife in my life and I felt just terrible over it. I haven't been sick at all, but was so interested in the matinee and got home so late that I simply forgot all about the dinner."

"Ha," Dick exclaimed. "There you are; the system again; the theater. Another means of the robber class to divert the minds of the people from the real issue."

"I'll take a little cheese with that," Reynolds interpolated, "and give Dick some more beer. Hope is the system's deadliest foe. One stein and it is discovered; two, and it finds a worthy rival; three, and it is thwarted; four, it is vanquished, and five, it is obliterated. Dick, you should get a job in a brewery!"

"Hear, hear!" replied the prophet. "The Messiah of a new creed is squelched by the proletariat. A great chance I have in this household. If I threw a bomb one of you would catch it and think it was candy."

"Jane," said her husband, "getting back to earth, I have a piece of news. The butcher called on me today. He came down to the office to dun me for my bill. Twenty-six fifty-eight, I think it was. You remember, I gave you the money Monday. I'd let it run over the month a bit, but that doesn't give him the right to ask for it twice. I told him to get out and when he got rude I threatened to throw him out. He said you hadn't paid the bill, but, of course, he was mistaken."

Mrs. Reynolds got up.

"She made no reply to her husband."

"I thank you again, Dick, for this most welcome treat," she said. "You have certainly proved yourself a savior of domestic harmony."

She walked over to the window seat and donned her new hat. Then she came forward.

"Why, Jane, that is perfectly stunning," said her husband.

"Some hat, if you ask me," agreed Dick.

"Oh, I'm so glad you like it. Do you really think it is becoming, Bob? You know, it is the first one I have had for a year, I mean, a whole new one."

"I know," responded Bob, "you ought to have more of them. But what can a husband do when the system is against him? Pretty fine looking girl, eh, Dick?"

"Just as fine as they make them. Wouldn't she make a great queen of the Reds?"

"No, thank you," said Jane; "but I appreciate the proffered honor."

She stooped and kissed her husband. He looked up at her. "I tell you there must be something to that old proverb, 'Fine feathers make fine birds,'" he said.

"Something to it," answered Dick. "Nine million dressmakers live on it."

"You know, Bob," continued his wife, "I just had to get that hat. The old one had been twisted, and turned, and worn until it was almost falling to pieces."

"Yes, I know it. What of it? Why shouldn't you get a new one?"

"Well, Bob, there is another confession coming and I just won't fib to you. I saw this in the window, and I got reckless and lost my head, and I didn't pay the butcher. But you won't be angry with me, now that you see how pretty the hat is, will you? I wanted it so bad and needed it, too, and I was afraid it would be gone if I waited till I saw you and told you about it."

Reynolds looked distressed. He took two or three steps across the room and turned back toward his wife.

"No, dear, I am not going to be cross; I am just sorry, that's all. If I had the money you could have a million hats. I don't know anything in the world that would give me more pleasure than for you to have pretty things, for I know how dear nice things are to a girl's heart. But I haven't got the money, that's all. You remember when we were married upstate five years ago, we both agreed that what we wanted most was a home and we finally got this place. Now, twice a month they are at the door for the money, and if I should miss one payment we'd lose everything. I've never told you how hard it is for me to meet that obligation. I have met it so far, and if it comes through all right we'll have some part of this old Mother Earth. That's why I can't buy you hats. I'd like to, Jane, but I can't and I am sorry."

Truly repentant now, Jane walked to her husband's side and put an arm about his neck.

"I didn't know it was as bad as that," she answered sadly. "I'm sorry, too."

Dick looked gloomily across the table. "Doesn't it beat all how a little thing can knock the bottom out of the festive board?" he said. "Gee, this has just copped my bun and ruined my socialism."

Reynolds walked to the window and stood looking out. He turned at length and, as if addressing himself, declared: "She looked wonderful in that hat. Why can't I dress her up and give her an even chance with those that are not half as pretty?"

Dick crossed to his friend's side and put his hand on his shoulder.

"I have told you why, if you ask me, but you say I'm theorizing. Now, call it theory if you want to, but here you see a practical demonstration of it. The system doesn't allow you to dress your wives up unless you pay for it, and you can't pay for it unless you're in the system. Sometimes it dresses them up for you if they're pretty, but this particular case doesn't belong in that category. Now, you buck up, old fellow; we're better off here dipping into this old relic of the plunderbund's generosity with nothing but this bungalow to cover us than all those big fellows put together. You've got love here, Bob, real love. When they imagine God does all love to them it is stamped counterfeit from start to finish. With Jane and you living for each other as you do, you have got 90 per cent of all the happiness right here at home in this question mark of a house."

He stopped. Reynolds was smiling at him.

"All right, Bob; you're hopeless. If you can't stand a little socialism, even when it is mixed with romance, why let's wash the dishes."

The buzz of a halting automobile was heard outside. Reynolds stepped quickly toward the door.

"I guess that's Brand now, Dick."

"Then that's my cue to vamoose."

"No, you stay right where you are. There he is at the door."

"Hello, Mr. Brand," greeted Rey-

"If I Had the Money You Could Have a Million Hats."

nolds, as he threw open the door; "I'm glad to see you."

"Mr. Brand? Why not John? How are you, Bob?"

"First rate; let me have your coat and hat."

"Thanks; quite a long way out here, isn't it?"

"Yes, it is, but we find it worth while after we get here. We enjoy the air and view very much. This is my country villa."

Brand laughed. "First one I've seen," he said, "although I own some stock in this company. Wish I had known you were buying this place. I might have saved you some money."

"Then I wish so, too."

Use "Gets-It," Corns Shrivels, Vanish!

It's the New Way and You'll Forget You Ever Had Corns.

"2 drops put on in 2 seconds, corns shrivel, comes clean off." That's the marvelous story of "GETS-IT," the new plan corn cure. Nothing can be simpler for the cure of corns—and it never fails.

No Corns to Bump No Pain, If You Use "GETS-IT."

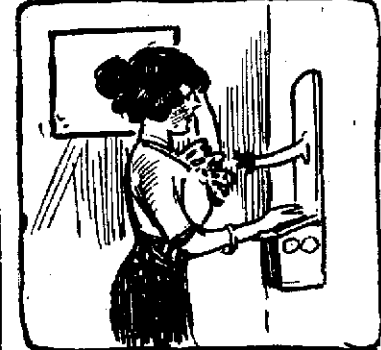

That's why millions of people are using "GETS-IT" today and throwing away their fussy plasters, sticky tape, toe-curing salves, and "wrapping outfits" that make a bundle around the toe and choke it into pain by pressing either on or around the corn. There is nothing to stick to your stocking, nothing to cause inflammation or rawness, nothing to press on or around the corn. You apply it in 2 seconds. No more knives, razors, scissors or files, with their blood-poison dangers. Try "GETS-IT" for that corn, callous, wart or bunion. "GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere. 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Bell—is that so? Nell—Yes, positively she couldn't have thought less of them if they were her own.

Dinner Stories

Dinner Stories A young lady took down the receiver and discovered the telephone was in use. "Just put on a pan of beans for dinner," she heard one woman complacently informing another.

She hung up the receiver and waited.

Three times she waited and then, exasperated, she broke into the conversation.

"Madam, I smell your beans burning," she announced crisply.

A horrified scream greeted the remark and the young lady was able to put in her call.

Mrs. Barrows was worried—that fact was evident to her husband, although she endeavored to maintain a cheerful manner. Before the evening was over, however, he discovered the cause of her anxiety.

"Will," said she, "I am very much afraid that my bank is in a bad way."

"How foolish, Mabel! Don't let that cause you a moment's worry. Why, it's one of the strongest financial institutions in the state. Whatever got that idea into your head?"

"Well, it's very strange," replied Mrs. Barrows, still unconvinced. "They've just returned a check of mine for $40 marked 'No Funds.'"

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Aug. 10, 1874. Wilcox and Cole are making improvements on Fourth street bridge and they hope to have that edifice fit the passage of teams on Saturday, although the rattling will not be finished until next week. One pair of found defective, it being strengthened in the masonry and the truss at the eastern end of the bridge which will have to be taken out and replaced by a new one.

Cows in this city have reached a very high grade of intelligence and it will be necessary to patent new gate fastenings if our gardens are to be protected from the knowing quadrupeds. The greatest puzzles will only defeat the cows for one generation.

The Mutual base ball team are still invincible. The game on Saturday between the Mutuals of this city and the Centrals of Elkhorn was the best ever played in Janesville. The field was excellent and the small score of 13 to 5, shows the game must have been closely contested

ASSEMBLY CONTESTS
IN BOTH DISTRICTS

Three Candidates Seek Republican Nomination in First District.—Democrats Also Active.
On both the democratic and republican tickets there are contests for the assembly in each of the Rock county districts and the campaign for nominations promises to be a vigorous one. Three republicans are out for the office in the northern district: D. M. Barless, present superintendent of the Rock county asylum and poor farm, who was first to declare himself; Lucius Kennedy of this city, who was an unsuccessful candidate two years ago; and Lawrence C. Whittier of Edgerton, a former assemblyman from the district. There are two candidates from the democratic party who seek the nomination for the assembly from the same district: Alexander M. Paul of the town of Milton, the present incumbent; and Thomas C. Richardson of Evansville, said to be a democrat of the Aylward stripe. In the second or southern district the assembly campaign in both parties will be hotly contested. C. D. Rosa, the present representative, seeks reelection; the republican ticket is opposed by Albert J. Vinegar of Beloit, said to have been endorsed by the taxpayers and home rule league. On the democratic ticket D. T. Borer of Clinton, and J. R. Jordan of Beloit are the candidates.

PICNIC AT SPRINGS
CLOSES CONVENTION

Annual Convention of St. John's German Lutheran Church Junior League Ended.
The sixth annual convention of the Young People's Society of St. John's German Lutheran churches of the southern Wisconsin district, which have been in session here for the past four days, was brought to a close yesterday with a basket picnic at Crystal Springs. Delegates of the junior organization report a successful meeting and express much gratification from the hospitable treatment afforded by their Janesville hosts. A baseball game yesterday afternoon between teams of delegates from Watertown and Johnsons Creek and Janesville and Madison, was won by the first nine 15 to 10. Over one hundred and seventy young people were in attendance. They departed to their homes at Beloit, Madison, Verona, Johnsons Creek and other places last evening and today.

COMMISSION HEARS
TESTIMONY MONDAY

Waterworks Hearing Adjourned Until Today.
Testimony was taken by the state railroad commission at the hearing for the valuation of the Janesville waterworks held Monday at Madison, and the hearing was adjourned over until today. Monday engineers who have investigated the local plant were placed on the stand and in the afternoon W. S. Maxey, one of the owners of the waterworks, testified. Representing the city were Mayor Jas. A. Fathers, Councilman Roy Cummings and P. J. Goodman and City Attorney W. H. Dougherty. Besides Mr.

pany's attorneys, M. G. Jeffris and Otto Oestreich, were present at the hearing.

KAREL AND KEARNEY
TO VISIT EDGERTON

Will Visit Tobacco City and Other Points On Thursday.—Plan Reception.
Edgerton, Aug. 11.—Word received here this morning is to the effect that Judge John C. Karel of Milwaukee and Thomas Kearney of Racine will arrive Thursday morning for a short conference with local voters. As Mr. Karel and Mr. Kearney will be in the city but a little over an hour and a half, it is their earnest desire to meet as many voters as possible to discuss the political situation. At 10:15 the gentlemen will leave for Milton and Milton Junction, visiting farmers along the route and the citizens at the villages. Judge Karel has a host of friends in this city and the reception tendered him two years ago in the campaign is well remembered. Tentative plans made today follow in a way those of the candidates' last visit.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank all our neighbors and friends who so willingly assisted us in every way during our late bereavement. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.
MRS. THOMAS MOORE AND FAMILY.

Homes of Poor In Scotland
Rival Tenement Districts

Homes of Poor in Scotland 3,599,744 acres out of a total of 19,070,468 is occupied by deer forests or is otherwise exclusively devoted to "sport." The committee does not contend that the whole of this area is tilable, but it is pointed out that more than 300,000 acres are below the 1,000-foot level and as much could readily be turned to agriculture, while probably twice as much, situated contiguous to good farming country, could be utilized for grazing. There are some 200 of these deer forests, ranging in extent from 100 to 110,000 acres, nine of them over 40,000 acres in extent, the chief owners being the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Marquis of Zetland, and the trustees of the Duke of Fife.
The general rapacity of Scottish landlords and their utter indifference to the agricultural development of the country have resulted in steady depopulation of the rural districts and towns, not to mention the growing emigration to the colonies. A striking commentary on the attitude of the landlords is the fact that in the past 30 years the number of farm laborers in Scotland has decreased from 136,000 to 87,000, while in the same period the number of gamekeepers has increased from 42,000 to 69,000. Jan Macpherson believes that unless the government itself takes steps to check this process, the end can only be the destruction of all that won for Scotland the enviable place she holds in history, and that the breeding grounds of the hardest and thriftiest branch of the British race will inevitably become the home of the ill-housed, underfed, ambitious, miserable city slum dwellers.
Already the percentage of persons living in one-room huts in Scottish towns of more than 2,000 inhabitants is 9.7, while thousands of capable and experienced men, eager to till the soil, despite the present disabilities of the tenant farmer in regard to cancellation of his improvements, arbitrary increase of his rent, and arbitrary eviction, are unable to find locations for their activities.
"We do not criticize the indulgence of any reasonable form of sport," says the committee, "except where that indulgence is carried to a point which is seriously and undeniably detrimental to the preservation of rural population. We consider that the land of a country should be turned to full account and that a reasonable maximum product of what it can produce should be taken from it.
It was known that vast tracts of land that might be devoted to agriculture were used solely as game preserves for the occasional recreation of the landed aristocracy and their friends. But it was not known that as a result nearly half the urban population of Scotland live more than two miles from the land, and under conditions of insanitation and immorality that rival those prevailing in the worst slums of the metropolis. The effect of the report, which was prepared by the Gifford Pinchot of England, Jan Macpherson, M. P., and a corps of experts privately appointed by Lloyd George to make an exhaustive investigation into the rural and economic conditions in the rural parts of Great Britain, has been to give a tremendous boost to the land reform campaign of the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Many of the committee's recommendations, particularly with reference to the breaking up of these huge estates by abolishing the game laws, present entail system, their taxation according to site value, it was learned today, are to be incorporated in the government's land bill which is now in the course of preparation.
The committee was able to show the landed proprietors have almost made a mockery of the recent law whereby local communities may acquire agricultural tracts for the benefit of small holders. Compensation far above the actual value of the land invariably is claimed, and as a result the demand for these small holdings remains unsatisfied throughout the country. An instance is cited where the Glasgow Corporation had to pay $150,000 for a farming section of about 17 acres, the real value of which, based on actual rentals, was only $85,000, and in addition had to reimburse the owner to the extent of $4,000 for the alleged "damages to the amenity" of some 383 acres of swamp land, of no value to anybody. Still unsatisfied, the owner brought in a bill of $2,000 "damages to fishings and shootings"—and collected it.
